LAST STONE ON THE SHAFT.

It Will Be Put in Place To-Day on the Soldiers' Monument-s Long Double Stairway.

The last stone on the shaft of the monument will be placed in position at 9 o'clock this morning. It is the one which completes the balustrade around the observation platform and when it is disposed of an important period in the history of the monument is marked. The turret frame is complete and will be put up tomorrow. The foreman for Streeter, the Chicago man who had the contract for the stairway and the iron-work, but who sublet it to Hetherington & Berner, of this city, was at the office of the commission yesterday with a model of the stairway. He is superintending the work on the turret and stairway at the foundry of Hetherington & Berner. It will take three months to complete the stairs, twenty-seven consist of runs, eleven rises, and 324 steps. That will make quite a climb for the people who do not care to take the elevator. The original intention was to have only a single flight of stairs from the landing where the elevator stops, 194 feet above ground, to the observation platform twenty feet higher. It was decided yesterday, however, to have a double stairway, which will offer much better accommodation on days when any considerable number of people visit the monument, and the change is a wise one. The deputy architect, Mr. Baumann, came down from Chicago yesterday to look after some details of the work, and will be here again Monday. day, Aug. 3, when the next meeting of the commission occurs.

Beville and others will be at the company. ers will be at the meeting and explain the objects and prospects of the company.

Death of a Centenarian, The remains of Sarah Davis, colored, were interred at Crown Hill yesterday afternoon. Her age was not known, but that it was beyond the one-hundredth year is certain. She came to this State with the Phelps family that settled in Morgan county, and after that, for fifty years, lived with relatives at Bedford. For the past eighteen years lived with her granddaughter, Mrs. Sumner Allen, whose home is at No. 10 Athon street, and there she died. For the last five years she was confined to her bed and deprived of her faculties. of her faculties.

FIXING THE TAX VALUES.

Reviewers and the Indiana National-Reductions in Out Townships-Double Taxation.

President Malott, of the Indiana National Bank, was before the County Board of Review yesterday for some time, talking over the appraisement of the stock of that institution. The board finally fixed the figures at 2062s, which is an appraisement of $620,-000 on the bank's capital stock of $300,000. Mr. Malott argued with the members for a reduction, but they were obdurate, refusing to come down a dollar from the amount

The eight out townships of Marion county were represented by assessors during the board's session yesterday, and, after some talk with them, a horizontal reduction-not to apply to improvements -was made in the appraise ment of real estate in all the townships of the county except Center. The average peracre under the reduction agreed upon will be as follows: Franklin, $34.23; Perry, $40,67; Pike, $35.53; Washington, $58.44; Wayne, $52.19; Warren, $42.75; Lawrence, $34.07; Decatur, $35.67. Franklin, Perry, Pike, Lawrence and Decatur were reduced 5 per cent., Wayne and Warren 10 and Washington 20 per cent. This makes the average appraisement per acre, outside of Center township, $42.07. The outside of Center township, $42.07. The board says the reductions were necessary in order to equalize the appraisement throughout the county. The pressure from the agricultural element was too strong for the members to resist. A reduction of 15 per cent. has been made, on Assessor Wolf's recommendation, on the appraisement of property east of Woodruff Place and between Clifford avenue and Michigan street.

No attention has been paid to Attorneygeneral Smith's gratuitous opinion relative to corporations. The board thinks it has made a just and equitable assessment of stock companies and will not change it.
Smith asked and obtained from the board yesterday the verbatim testimony of
E. C. Atkins & Co. regarding their appraisement. He wanted it for reference in stock, or write for circulars, cuts and | manufacturing the bomb-shell which he has been threatening since Saturday to fire at the corporations. The board does not think a company can be taxed here for manufactured articles, which, though made in this city, are stored and taxed in other States. Smith holds a different view and says the goods must be assessed here no matter if it is double taxa-

> President Walker, of the State Board of Tax Commissioners, says they have paid no attention to the controversy between Smith and the county board, for it is none of their business. They expect county boards to settle all that. The State board, he says, visited thirteen counties in the north-eastern part of the State last week. There is much complaint there because of reductions made by the Marion county board, which is regarded as a sort of standard. It is difficult, Colonel Walker says, to make the residents of the other counties understand that much of Marion county's suburb-an property was appraised too high. This week the State board is visiting the south-eastern section of Indiana.

CRIMINAL MALPRACTICE.

Dr. Prunk, Shadowed by Detectives, Is at Las Arrested on the Confession of His Patient.

Dr. Daniel H. Prunk, of No. 30 North

Mississippi street, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of criminal malpractice. An investigation of his alleged acts were intrusted by Chief Splann to detectives Doherty and Crane some five or six weeks ago, and for four or five days the developments have been such that their whole time was required. The act was committed at the house of Mrs. Hibben, on North Mississippi street. The detectives shadowed the house, and when on Wednesday night last they saw Dr. Prunk enter it they stationed themselves near a window, where they heard much that will serve as evidence. Observing the Doctor's movements on leaving the house, they learned enough to confirm their suspicions. Saturday the Doctor again visited the house, with the detectives at his heals and vesterday they got a confession heels and vesterday they got a confession from his patient, Miss Ida Johnson, of Cin-cinnati. This led to their placing her and Mrs. Hibben under arrest with the Doctor, but the latter alone was taken to the station-house, where he gave $1,000 bond, with L. Renkard, a druggist, as surety. Police Matron Buchanan is in charge of the women prisoners at Mrs. Hibben's house, as Miss Johnson is too sick to be removed to the station-house. Dr. Prunk is about sixty years of age, and is quite wealthy. He was arrested for a like crime a number of years ago. The case will await grand jury action.

AT OUTS WITH HIS PARTY.

Chairman Bridges Not in Favor with the Candidates, Who Say He Is Doing Nothing.

As stated in the Journal some days ago, great many Democrats are very much disgusted with Chairman Bridges, of their city committee, because of his attempts, as they claim, to disorganize the party. The latest complaint comes from the candidates, who are not finding fault with what the chairman does, but what he doesn't do. They say he is neglecting his duty, and evinces a general apathy in the result of the convention and the election that does not become a man who is supposed to be directing the municipal destinies of the Democratic party. The numerous complaints have induced Bridges to turn most of the work over to Vic Backus, who is now collecting the expense fund from the candidates. When the new committee is chosen it is safe to say Bridges will not be chairman of it. Since the overwhelming defeat of his pet scheme of ward meetings and early councilmanic nominations he has done little of any work, so the indignant Democrats say. It is quite evident that the city committee's chairman is very much at outs with

TROUBLE AT A PICNIC.

Insolent Drivers of Express Wagons Have Too Free Use of Beer and Attack Their Patrons.

Edward Stewart, colored, a driver for Girton's Express Company, was arrested yesterday by Constable Sorters, of 'Squire Feibleman's court, to answer a charge of assault and battery. His accuser is a Polish Jew, named Glueck, who, with a party of forty-five others of his race, spent Sunday at a picnic on Golden Hill. The party went there in express wagons and carried a large supply of provisions and beer. Stewart and supply of provisions and beer. Stewart and two other negroes, also drivers, were allowed all the beer they wanted, and at 5 o'clock demanded that the party get ready to return home. This the Poles refused to do, as they had hired the conveyances till 7 o'clock. The negroes then went to fighting and knocked down Glueck and his brother. The party was thrown into a panic and the negroes bitched thrown into a panic and the negroes hitched up and left the grounds. The police of this city were telephoned for, but Superintendent Colbert refused to send aid because of the distance. The Poles were compelled to wait till nearly midnight before other conveyances arrived to bring them to the city again.

It Will Not Be Removed. The resolution offered Saturday relative to an exposition to take the place of the fair was thereupon Secret Service Arrests. According to the annual report from this district of the United States Treasury Department secret service thirty-two persons charged with counterfeiting have been arrested during the year ending June 30 by Major Carter and his assistant, Crit Cox.

Of this number thirty were convicted. Indiana, Ohio and Illinois monopolize most of the counterfeiting business, four secret service operatives and a number of assistants being kept busy in these three States.
The New England States have but one operative and Florida, Louisians, Mississippi, Arkansas, Indian Territory, Oklahoma and Texas form another district in charge of only one man, who has no assist-

Want a Show for Their Money.

Attorney Cox, of the new Broad Ripple company, returned from Cincinnati yesterday afternoon, where he had a long consultation with capitalists Mooney and Kerper regarding their petition for a franchise in the city. They assured Mr. Cox that they are willing to meet any requirements the Board of Public Works quirements the Board of Public Works may attach to the franchise, provided they are not so burdensome as to make the enterprise unprofitable. Under conditions that will permit a fair return on the investment they will build the road at once. Mr. Cox brought up with him a check for $5,000 which he at once turned over to the owners of the Butsch farm. That fixes the purchase of that tract of land for which $25,000 more is to be paid.

Dockstader's Minstrels.

The sale of seats for the minstrel performance next Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee will begin this morning at the Grand Opera-house. Dockstader promises something in the line of minstrelsy which will eclipse anything of the sort on the road this coming season. His people are well known and capable of helping him give just such a performance as is indicated above. Of his own talent it is unnecessary to make more than casual mention, so familiar is it to all theater-goers. The three Marvelles furnish a novel specialty, which will be seen here for the first time. All the spe-cialties, for that matter, are said to be clever and amusing.

Remainder of the Fund.

After homes and annuities had been provided for the widows and orphans of the firemen killed in the Bowen-Merrill disaster, $3,000 of the fund therefor contributed by citizens remained in the committee's hands. Of the injured firemen five survive, and they are endeavoring to have the $3,000 distributed among them. It is urged that if this is done it will be of great benefit to them, as some will never recover entirely from their injuries. A petition to have this distribution made is being circulated among the subscribers to the Death of William Gerber. William Gerber, a detective under the old Metropolitan police system, died yesterday morning of consumption. He had been ill for eighteen months, but kept his position up to the first of the year. The disease first started from an attack of la grippe. He was formerly a special officer at the Park Theater, and was popular wherever known. He will be buried tomorrow in Madison, where his father, Col. Gerber, killed in the war, is buried.

Clerks and Carriers. There will be a civil-service examination Tuesday, Aug. 4, at the federal court room for positions as clerks and carriers in the postoffice. Secretary Woodward has on file applications from nine persons who want to be clerks, and twelve who are anxious to work for the government as carriers. The time for filing applications has passed, as they must be made twenty days prior to the examination.

Will Not Be Used at Night. The covered patrol wagon has been tried and found wanting when there is heavy work to do, and will be abandoned, at least at night. It soon wears out the horses and is not needed for protection of prisoners after dark. The old wagon has been repaired and repainted, and will be used for the night service.

Sharpe. Officers Commissioned.

The Governor yesterday commissioned Charles E. Lambert, captain; B. T. Hadley, first lieutenant, and W. J. Goebler second lieutenant, Company C, First Regiment, Rockville. TRAINING UNRULY HORSES.

Prof. Gleason's Exhibit in Mastering a Runaway, Balkers and Kicking Mustang.

There was a large crowd last night at the corner of Kentucky avenue and Mississippi street to witness the first exhibition of Oscar R. Gleason, the famous horsetrainer. The first horse handled was a handsome gray belonging to George W. Schoseld, and known as a shyer and a runaway. The animal quickly showed a willingness to kick, rear and plunge. The trainer had a hard fight to make it recognize a master, but such was his success that the animal became a docile, steady driver, ready to answer every command. The sound of a bass drum, rattling cans, the band, and noises and sights that frighten horses, no longer had their effect on the gray. The horse was hitched up, and won the confidence and admiration of all by his steady demeanor. While awaiting for the next horse Professor Gleason said his success lies in letting a horse know that while cess lies in letting a horse know that while he is its master he will not inflict pain.

The second horse was also one of Schofield's, and afforded much entertainment. It was known as a bolter and balker, being thoroughly unrehable as a driver. This animal was, however, quickly subdued and had, at the end of the training, no inclination to bolt. It was harnessed with the gray to a vehicle, and while somewhat unruly for a few minutes, was soon so thoroughly mastered that it would stand over an exploding package of fire-crackers without moving. The gray seemed to remember its lessons and bravely stood the cracking, sputtering and sparks. The Professor next introduced his trained horse Topsy, a perfect dun, which was driven without bridle or lines. At the word, she feigned to balk, and imitated the actions of such a horse to perfection. The closing exhibition was the breaking of a mustang from kicking. The act was one of much interest. The performance to-night will include the handling of eight horses. ling of eight horses.

LET OUT BY HIS WIFE.

Mrs. Wolf Has Her Husband Arrested for Beating Her and Then Aids Him in Escaping.

Charles Wolf was yesterday morning arrested for drunkenness and assault and battery on his wife. In the afternoon Mrs. Wolf and a neighbor, Henry Steck. called at the station-house to see him, and were allowed to talk with the prisoner through the iron door. Turnkey Taffe, detectives Thornton, Page, Doherty, Kaehu and patrolman Kerins were sitting in the office and about the doorway, when Steck and Mrs. Wolf quietly opened the jail door and allowed the prisoner to escape. He ran through a rear side-door, while the visitors leisurely walked out the front way. Some one entering through the hall saw the trick and notified the officers. They scattered instantly in search of the prisoner and his abettors in escaping. Mrs. Wolf and Steck were found a half square away, and arrested on a charge of aiding a prisoner to escape. The door has since been changed, so that it cannot be opened by outsiders. Steck was released on bail late last night, on account of the serious illness of his wife. She has been a sufferer from consumption, and was so affected by her husband's arrest that her life is despaired of. Thornton, Page, Doherty, Kaehn
